Methodist Church Begins One Week

Revival Services 'Easter Sunday

Easter Sunday will mark the opening of revival services at the Statesboro Methodist Church, with Dr. Ira M.
Hargett of Louisville, Ky., as the guest preacher.
Easter Sunday will mark the opening of revival services at the Statesboro Methodist Church with Dr. Ira M. Hargett of Louisville, Ky., as the guest preacher.
Rev. John Lough, pastor of the church, announced the revival services would begin with the morning service at 11:30 Sunday, April 13, and continue through Sunday, April 20. Evening services will be held at 8 o'clock.
The services during the week will be held daily at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.
"Dr. Hargett, pastor-evangelist, is considered one of the outstanding voices in Methodism today," Rev. Lough said.
For 12 years he was pastor of the Fourth Avenue Methodist Church in Louisville, Kentucky's largest Methodist Church. He is now a full-time evangelist working in the Southeast.
Mr. Clay Mitty, evangelistic singer and soloist, will lead the singing and will bring a special message in song at each service.
Mr. Mitty is one of the most effective singers in the field of evangelism today and is in great demand throughout the Southeast
in revival meetings in churches and camp meetings.
The citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch county are invited to attend the services. Rev. Lough urges all people to "clear the way for the services each morning and evening."

Hobby Show Setup

For Rec. Center

Statesboro and Bulloch county hobbyists will have an opportunity to display their hobbies at at Hobby Show to be held at the Recreation Center Wednesday, April 16.
The Hobby Show is sponsored by the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club.
The committee in charge of the show states that hobbies will be judged in three groups: (1) those shown by youth in the first grade through the fourth grade; (2)
those in the fifth grade through the seventh grade; (3) those in junior high school; and (4) those in senior high school. Prizes will be awarded in each group.
The Recreation Center will be open Tuesday afternoon and evening, April 15, to allow entrants to set up their exhibits. The entrant's hobby must be ready to judge before the show on April 16. Tables will be furnished. Each entrant must label his exhibit with his name, age, grade in school, and type of exhibit (such as industrial art, stamp collecting, etc.).
The hobby show is free and the citizens of the city and county are urged to visit the Recreation Center and see the things their young people are doing.

3 BC Seniors Now

Practice Teaching

ported Monday for their senior internships in the practice teaching program of Georgia Teachers College.
Fred W. Brown of Stillson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dessie Brown, reported to the Baxley High School, where he will teach science. He will hold periodic conferences with the college off-campus coordinator, Dr. Henry L. Ashmore.
Miss Tabulah Lester of States-
boro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Malcolm B. Lester, will teach in the college elementary laboratory school.

auditorium. The public is invited.
Mrs. D. L. Udal to speak.
Mrs. D. L. Udal of the States-boro High School will be guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Statesboro Woman's Club.

Fat Stock Show Entries

To Fill Five Classes

The number of cattle being entered in the fat stock show April 24 has increased to the point that it will be necessary to divide the 4-H Club cattle into five classes, announces.
For several years only three individual rings were used for 4-H boys and girls. Last year it was increased to four and this year
five classes may have as many as 18 to 20 calves in each ring.
There are 60 4-H Club entries
this year, Mr. Roberts stated. It is possible that the number will be greater.
The Negro group will have 15
entries. Forty-five head of cattle are expected to be entered in the two ring classes for adults.
Mr. Roberts thinks the show will be the largest held in years,
with some of the best cattle ever shown out in the county. The show last year had 16 prime steers and 17 choice animals. Mr. Roberts states that the 1952 show will probably exceed these figures in quality cattle.

This year's show will be held at the Bulloch Stockyards on April 24, starting at 9 a. m. The sale will begin at 1 p. m.
They, their subjects, and local school supervisory teachers are:
Miss Shirley Ann Shuman of Savannah, business under Mrs. Evelyn Wendel; Miss Ann Trice of Greenville, Ala., music under Mrs.
Nona Quinn; and Joseph Sizemore
of Nashville, science under Mrs.
Martha Tootle.
They will hold periodic conferences with college coordinators.

Youth Witnesses

Will Testify In

'Trial' Apr. 21-23

When the Christian youth of this section goes "on trial" here April 21-23, the prosecution will present
as its witnesses Harville Hendricks of Statesboro, Donald Sparks of Portals, Young Edfield of Millerville, Sue Whaley of Laboratory High School, Bobby Chambers of Sylvania, Pat Routt of Laboratory High School, Ed Timmerman
of the Student Christian Association of Georgia Teachers College, June Carr of Statesboro, and Glenda Edgings of Claxton.
The defense will put on the stand Jeanette Hooks of Milton, Peggy Saturday of the Student Christian Association of the college, Haywood Boyd of Laboratory
High School, Betty Joe Fencok
of Portals, Joan Coleman of Sylvania, Charlotte Blitch of States-
boro, Jane Seabolt and Ann Evans, both of the Student Christian Association of the college, and Marjorie Dook of Claxton.
"Dr. Thomas Little of Statesboro will appear as a special witness as 'Amicus Curiae' or Friend of the Court) on Wednesday to consider the charge, 'Failure to Count Down' and 'Failure to Count Up'.
Opening prayers during the "trial" will be given by Laidene
Newsome and Harville Hendricks.
Frank Jones will serve as prosecuting attorney and Joe Neville
will serve as defense attorney.
Clyde Dekle of Milton will preside
over the "trial".
"Christian Youth on Trial" is a unique project presented to the people of this community by the S. Y. and T. H. Y. clubs and the Student Christian Association of the college and is co-sponsored by the state Y.M.C.A.
"The purpose of the 'trial' is to 'examine and evaluate the moral and spiritual climate in which Christian youth find themselves in Statesboro, Bulloch county,
and throughout the nation."
The objective, according to Mr.
Maltby, is to bring out both the present strong and weak points in the behavior of Christian youth and to challenge them to nobler and truer Christian living day by day.
The project is carried out in the style of a court trial to dramatize these principles and to focus the attention of the public on them.
The "trial" is to be held at the Methodist Church on April 21, 22,
and 23 at 7:30 p. m. each evening.

Red Cross Drive Short

boro Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its annual
"Come to Church" program this month in Statesboro and Bulloch
county.
In explaining the campaign,
Jaycee Joe Clements, chairman, stated the "Come to Church" program is to energize the "return to religion"; to emphasize that our churches are the foundation of Americanism; and to bring about the realization that "Freedom
From Faith in God."
He went on to say, "The special month will have added interest
this year because Easter comes the second Sunday in April—this Sunday."

'And It Came To Pass'

THE EASTER STORY—ST. LUKE 24:1-53

Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them.

And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre.

And they entered in, and found not the body of the Lord Jesus.

And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments:

And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead?

He is not here, but is risen; remember how he spake unto you when he was yet in Galilee.

Saying, The Son of man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.

And they remembered his words.

And returned from the sepulchre, and told all these things unto the eleven, and to all the rest.

It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary, the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told these things unto the apostles.

And their words seemed to them as tales, and they believed them not.

Then arose Peter, and ran unto the sepulchre; and stooping down, he beheld the linen clothes laid by themselves, and departed, wondering himself at that which was come to pass.

And, behold, two of them went that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jerusalem about threescore furlongs.

And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

And it came to pass that, while they communed together and reasoned, Jesus himself drew near, and went with them.

But their eyes were holden that they should not know him.

And he said unto them, What manner of communications are these that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are sad?

And the one of them, whose name was Cleopas, answering said unto him, Art thou only a stranger in Jerusalem, and hast not known the things which are come to pass in these days?

And he said unto them, What things? And they said unto him, Concerning Jesus of Nazareth, which was a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people.

And how the chief priests and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him.

But we trusted that it had been he which should have redeemed Israel: and beside all this, today is the third day since these things were done.

Yea, and certain women also of our company made us astonished, which were early at the sepulchre:

And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seen a vision of angels, which said that he was alive.

And certain of them which were with us went to the sepulchre, and found it even so as the women had said: but they saw him not.

Then he said unto them, O fools, and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken:

Ought not Christ to have suffered these things, and to enter into his glory?

And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all scriptures the things concerning himself.

And they drew nigh unto the village, whither they went: and he made as though he would have gone further.

But they constrained him, saying, Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is spent. And he went in to tarry with them.

And it came to pass, as he sat at meat with them, he took bread, and blessed it, and brake, and gave to them.

And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight.

And they said unto one another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the scriptures?

And they rose up the same hour and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them.

Saying, The Lord is risen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon.

And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking of bread.

And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit.

And he said unto them, Why are ye troubled, and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?

Behold my hands and my feet, that I am I myself; handle me, and see; for a spirit hath no flesh and bones as ye see we have.

And when he had thus spoken, he showed them his hands and his feet.

And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he said unto them, Have ye here any meat?

And they gave him a piece of broiled fish, and of an honeycomb.

And he took it, and did eat before them.

And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me.

Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures.

And said unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behooved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day:

And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.

And ye are witnesses of these things.

And, behold, I send the promise of my father upon you: but tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with the power from on high.

And he led them out as far as Bethany, and he lifted up his hands and blessed them.

And it came to pass, while he blessed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven.

And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy:

And were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

Come to Church Sunday

"FREEDOM FLOWS from Faith in God."

This is the theme of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual "Come to Church" program for the month of April.

The young men known as "The Jaycees" have secured the cooperation of all the Statesboro churches to emphasize the importance of the church in a free society such as ours, and to stress the fact that faith in God is the true source of this freedom.

The local Jaycees' "Come to Church" program is a part of the national organization's "Freedom Flame Program."

Special emphasis is being placed on church attendance every Sunday during April. The purpose being to reaffirm the fundamental belief that all of the great heritages of society were established and strengthened only through faith in God.

This is a wonderful opportunity for these young businessmen of our community to stand up for the things for which their program denotes. With a membership of over sixty, they can exert a wonderful influence during this month, and every month in the year.

We commend these community-minded men on their "Freedom Flame Program" and urge the citizens of this section to enter into it with humility and prayer.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN? A six-year-old girl submitted the following composition on "People" to her teacher:

"People are composed of girls and boys, also men and women. Boys are no good until they grow up and get married. Boys are a awful bother. They are every thing they see, except soap. My ma is a woman, and my pa is a man. A woman is a grown-up girl with children. My pa is such a nice man that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."—A. T., in The Dalton Citizen.

The Eternal Gift

The Origin of Easter

ALTHOUGH EASTER has been observed by Christians as a Christian festival, it still embodies many pagan traditions of an ancient time long before the rise of Christianity. The origin of its name is lost in the dim past. However, legends still abound explaining its beginnings.

Some scholars believe it probably is derived from Ostera, the Anglo-Saxon name of the Teutonic goddess of spring. The Norsemen welcomed her return with a celebration in appreciation of her reclothing the earth with beautiful greenery and vibrant flowers.

They thought of winter as being a state of death, stripping plant life of its beauty. This festival was observed on the day of the vernal equinox and traditions associated with are the Easter bunny and colored eggs. The coloring of eggs, red, blue, yellow, etc., was borrowed from the Aurora Borealis—and the dawning of the sun.

The Greeks celebrated Easter as the occasion of the return to earth of the goddess Persephone, rescued by her mother, Demeter, from the underworld of darkness to the light of day—symbolizing the renewing of life after winter liberation. The Phrygians believed their deity went to sleep during the winter months and at the time of the spring equinox they made merry with music and dancing to awaken him.

Other scholars emphasize the original relation of Easter to the Passover festival, or Pesach, from whence is derived Paschal, another name for Easter. For it was on the eve of the Passover that Christ was crucified. It is to be noted that both celebrations commemorate deliverances.

To Christians Easter is not a pagan celebration. It is the anniversary of the Resurrection Day of their Lord nearly 2,000 years ago. A day that is no doubt registered in the annals of heaven and observed even there as the most joyous of all days. For it marked the consummation of God's plan of redemption for mankind through the atonement of His Son on the cross.

On this Easter Day let us return, in our thinking, to Golgotha's hill. It was in the ninth hour of Good Friday (God's Friday), the saddest day in all history, when the earth was enveloped in darkness that the Son of Man cried out the victorious shout, "It is finished." And commended His spirit to the Father. Thus He completed His sacrificial expiation for man's sins, and lay down in death.

It was just before the Sabbath began (late Friday) that Joseph of Arimathea, a man of wealth who loved the master, claimed His bruised body from the authorities.

And returning to Golgotha tenderly lifted Him down from the cross. And there came Nicodemus, who had once visited Jesus secretly by night to ask the way of life. But now he openly attested his devotion by bringing a hundred pound weight of spices and myrrh. Which, with spiced linen, he and Joseph prepared their Lord for burial.

And laid Him in Joseph's "own tomb," which had been cut out of a rock. When this sacred service was done "they rolled a great stone to the door and departed." Thus in death He lay in a borrowed tomb as He had lain in a borrowed cradle at birth.

Fearing His followers might steal the body away, since He had said He would rise again, the authorities ordered the tomb sealed and placed a guard to watch. But they did not reckon with the power of a mighty omnipotent Christ. No boulder so large, no seal so secure, no guard, though it were legion strong, could confine His victorious spirit.

Even as an earthquake had accompanied the exit of the Christ from this world in death, so His resurrection heralded by such a cataclysm. It was after this that the door of Heaven opened and an angel descended to Joseph's garden for he had a mission there.

And as he rolled away the huge stone from the tomb and sat upon it, "his countenance was as lightning; his raiment white as snow."

Signifying the glory and majesty of the One whom he represented and of the world from which he came.

But what of the reaction of the Roman guard set to watch this "humble carpenter's resting place"? It is probable they were the strongest and bravest of the King's men. Yet it is doubtful that few, if any, have ever experienced such fright. Of them the Scripture with "Important" stamped in huge letters across the face of the envelope. The letter is unsealed and the address is stenciled. The first five words of this important letter read: "What Every Woman Should Know." We figured that for us.

Good Education Derived From Teaching School

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

ONE OF THE BEST education on earth is to be had by teaching school. No matter what a teacher may think she knows before she goes into a classroom, she discovers that what she knows is practically nothing. Children have a way of asking questions in discussions that can easily baffle the average teacher. (If she admits that she is ignorant of the fact in question, some impish little one asks, "What grade did you finish?")

But teaching aids that the modern teacher has are wonderful. One very splendid addition is the "My Weekly Reader," which is graded for the various student levels and which is really the most dynamic and most valuable item in the classroom. For instance, the death of the King of England and the pageantry of his funeral was a news item in one week's issue. Another number contained an interesting account of the remodeling of the White House. And whatever is new for that week gets the front page.

On the inside pages there are various stories which carry an appeal to the interest and curiosity of the students. An excellent story of a man who always appears items on science, written so that the child can understand them, are presented.

And so helpful to the teacher is the test that comes along each week. It is divided into two parts: one testing the student's ability to understand ideas, the other stimulating his vocabulary growth. This combination test is an excellent revealer of the child's progress.

Another splendid and most helpful aid to teaching is the educational film. On the Georgia Teachers' College campus at College Park, Ga., there is a fine collection of the regional offices of the State Film Library which distributes films to all of this section of the state.

The film library stocks pictures that are the most indispensable in the teaching of science, geography, language, arts, arithmetic, health, history, or almost anything one can think of.

A good example of the use of films can be found in the study of geography. Suppose the grade were studying Africa. With the film as a medium of supplement, the class receives a vivid impression of the primitive man in Africa, its deserts and jungles, its resources, and its modern cities. No matter how appealing the book studied may be, no matter how interesting and enthusiastic the teacher may have appeared, the film is able to advance his information on and interest in his subject. The teacher, because she must preview the film before showing it, is better able to direct the discussion of the subject, both before and after showing it to the class. The film is not a diversionary activity, but, used rightly, is a remarkable aid in getting ideas and facts across to the children.

Certain textbooks with teacher editions are most helpful. But there still seems to be a need for working out a plan whereby the texts will all center around one general idea, or unit. And some progress is being made in this direction.

Yes, the methods for teaching have certainly changed in the past twenty years. And the aids afforded the teacher today are wonderful. Of course, the prerequisites for a teacher are still unchanged and will probably remain the same always. She must be constantly aware of and diligent in the improvement of her own knowledge, she must, above all, love and understand children.

I still contend that it is an education in itself to teach school, and, if you doubt it, try it and see for yourself.

FARM NEWS

FARM BUREAU NEWS

Mrs. Vickery Tells Denmark Farm Bureau to Watch Spiritual Wellbeing

The farmer is foolish as he knows an excellent crop of corn, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, livestock and other things and yet fails to watch after his and his family's spiritual wellbeing. Mrs. J. Allen Vickery stated to the Denmark Farm Bureau Tuesday night of last week.

Mrs. Vickery quoted numerous scriptures from the Bible on the activities of the farmer and his family. She pointed out that the most important crop, or at least the most valuable, was the home and the children in it.

J. Allen Vickery led the invocation at Denmark.

Mrs. W. W. Jones, associated women's chairman, introduced the program at Denmark with a trio of young ladies, Misses Willa Dean, Vern Mae Davis and Janice Miller. Mrs. A. G. Rucker was chairman of the program committee for April.

WIDELAND CHANGES DATE OF LADIES' NIGHT

The Middleground chapter planned to move ladies' night to May 1 instead of in July as is usual. The May meeting will begin at 8:30 p. m. with a barbecue supper and Mrs. Janita Abernathy will present the school chorus in a series of songs, according to plans made at the meeting Thursday night of last week.

J. E. Deal was asked to serve as chairman of the May committee. Mr. Deal asked W. C. Hodges Jr., H. D. Deal, George A. Wallace, John Gay, Clomer McGinnis and Jesse Stuckey to help with this annual event.

Around 200 people usually attend this family night meeting.

Following the business session, in the succeeding centuries, has been emancipated from servitude and mediocrity to a position of respect and esteem.

What was this? The spirit of geography. Suppose the grade were studying Africa. With the film as a medium of supplement, the class receives a vivid impression of the primitive man in Africa, its deserts and jungles, its resources, and its modern cities. No matter how appealing the book studied may be, no matter how interesting and enthusiastic the teacher may have appeared, the film is able to advance his information on and interest in his subject. Forestry News

The Bulloch County Forestry Unit during coming months is planning a stepped-up program for enlisting aid of this area's citizens in cutting down on annual fires suffered from disastrous wildfires.

With fewer fires to fight than during the extremely dangerous fall and winter months, personnel of the unit hope to bring their message of "Fight Forest Fires Before They Start" to a wide audience throughout Bulloch county.

Churches, institutions, and civic groups will be urged to show free forestry films available from the Georgia Forestry Commission. These sound pictures, most of them filmed in color, cover a variety of topics ranging from fighting forest fire to better management of woodlands. Special forestry pictures are available to religious groups.

Films may be ordered through the Bulloch County Forestry Unit. Other summertime plans slated by the unit called for increased distribution of forestry literature. Close cooperation will be maintained with Farm Bureau, 4-H, FFA, and other agricultural groups interested in good forestry methods.

The unit is urging that forestation next fall in order that all interested persons are familiar with instructions for ordering seedlings when the Georgia Forestry Commission announces opening of the planting season.

This information and educational summertime program slated by your County Forestry Unit is being undertaken to help strengthen the position of forestry as one of Bulloch County's

BOB AND EVELYN POUND

Linda, Bobby and Matt have moved into their beautiful and ultra-modern home on College boulevard. The experience a thrill when they receive a rose tree four and a half feet tall, a gift from Bob's sister, Ruth (Mrs. David Bailey).

IT IS THE LOVELY PEACE ROSE

From what I hear, they intend to raise it right by the back. For a beautiful look-see in their home... There are three bedrooms. The master bedroom is turquoise... meaning color of walls; the boys' room is mauve; Linda's is a delicate pink. She helped mix the paint herself. The kitchen really packs a wallop in color. It is done in chartreuse and ruby red. There are no partitions between the living, dining room or den. A triple fireplace offers triple threats to a cold weather where log fires may add cheer in all three rooms simultaneously, come winter. The walls in the living room and dining room combine gray and yellow and the drapes feature gray and white with gold horizontal stripes. The den is paneled and natural.
